PUBLISHERS' PREFACE.

CASES of topical importance digested herein, to which attention may be drawn, are Kawasaki Kisen Kabushiki v. Bantam S.S. Co. Ltd., [1939] 1 All E. R. 819, on the meaning of "war" in a charterparty; Jenkins v. Shelley, [1939] 1 All E. R. 786, on naval discipline; R. v. Army Council, Ex. p. Sandford, [1939] 4 All E. R. 102, on the powers of the Army Council when reviewing the findings of a court martial; and A.-G. v. Finsbury Corpn., [1939] 3 All E. R. 995, on the provision of air-raid shelters by local authorities.

The new series of law reports commenced in 1936, the All England Law Reports Annotated, continues to supply the profession with a number of valuable decisions not reported in any other series. These are digested in this Supplement of the English and Empire Digest and provide precedents for various points not otherwise covered by authority.

MEANING OF TERMS

USED IN CLASSIFYING ANNOTATING CASES.

THE different expressions used to describe the effect of the annotating cases have the following meanings, and the classification of the annotating cases has been done strictly in accordance with these meanings. The annotating cases, except such as are classified as "Mentioned," are grouped according to the points in the case which they annotate: within these groups they are listed chronologically, except such as are classified as "Referred to," which come at the end of the group and are arranged inter se in chronological order. Cases which annotate the annotated case generally are grouped together after cases which annotate specific points, similarly arranged, and are followed by cases classified as "Mentioned" arranged chronologically inter se. The terms used in classifying the annotating cases are as follows:—

- "APPLIED" (Apld.).—This expression is used to denote the fact that the principle of law enunciated in the annotated case has been applied to a new set of facts and circumstances in the annotating case.
- "APPROVED" (Apprvd.).—This expression is used to denote the fact that the annotated case has been considered to be good law in the annotating case where the latter is in a higher court than the former.
- "CONSIDERED" (Consd.).—This expression is used where the remarks in the annotating case are devoid of adverse criticism and merely denote the giving of more or less careful consideration to the annotated case.
- "DISTINGUISHED" (Distd.).—This expression is used where the earlier case is not necessarily doubted, but where some essential difference (either on the facts or in law) between it and the annotated case is pointed out.
- "DOUBTED" (Dbtd.).—This expression is used where the court in the annotating case without definitely going to the length of saying that the annotated case is wrong, adduces reasons which seem to show that it is not accurate.
- "EXPLAINED" (Expld.).—This expression is used where the earlier case is not necessarily doubted, but the decision arrived at is justified or accounted for by calling attention to some point of fact or of law which is usually, but not necessarily, one not obvious on the face of the report.
- "EXTENDED" (Extd.).—Compare "APPLIED," supra.
- "FOLLOWED" (Folld.).—This expression is used to denote that the same principles of law are applied in the two cases. It does not necessarily imply that the facts are substantially identical in the two cases.
- "NOT FOLLOWED" (N.F.).—Compare "FOLLOWED," supra, to which it is the adverse.
- "OVERRULED" (Overd.).—This expression is used where the annotating case is on substantially identical facts with the annotated case and in a higher court and the rule in the latter case is held to be wrong.
- "REFERRED" (Refd.).—This expression is used only where the annotating case deals with the point of the Digest paragraph and is without comment of any definite character on the case annotated, and where there is no delicate shade of approval or disapproval which would justify the use of any of the foregoing words.
- "MENTIONED" (Mentd.).—This expression is used only where none of the foregoing terms apply. In other words, it is used only where the case annotated is cited on a point having nothing to do with the point in the Digest paragraph.

TABLE OF CASES.

INCLUDING CASES FROM THE COURTS OF SCOTLAND, IRELAND, THE EMPIRE OF INDIA, AND DOMINIONS BEYOND THE SEAS.

The Figures in Black Type relate to Volumes.

The Figures in Ordinary Type relate as regards English cases to the number of the case, and as regards other cases to the page in the Supplement on which the case appears.

- 18a. Appeal from Divisional Court—On case stated by quarter sessions—Derating appeal.—By Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (c. 49), s. 225, an action is defined as a civil proceeding begun by writ, "or in such other manner as may be prescribed by rules of Court." By R. S. C., Ord. 58, r. 15, an appeal from any order, whether final or interlocutory, in any matter not being an action, shall be brought within 14 days after perfecting :—Held : as an appeal from the decision of a Div. Ct., on a case stated by quarter sessions on an appeal from an assessment committee on a question of derating, is an appeal in a matter which is not an "action" as above defined, the time for bringing the appeal is limited to 14 days.—*BOTTOMLEY v. - 18b. —.]—The appeal began with a preliminary objection by counsel for resps. that the appeal was out of time, because fourteen days' notice had not been given. In the Mersey Docks cases (No. 18a, ante) that we have just concluded, we unfortunately spent two or three hours in considering whether the time was fourteen days or six weeks. The reasons for our decision will appear when at some later time we give the considered judgment in the Mersey Docks case, but I have the authority of my brothers for stating that at present, for reasons which will appear in the Mersey Docks judgment, the majority of the ct. is of opinion that the time, is fourteen days (SCRUTTON, L.J.).—*WILKINSON (TAUNTON REVENUE OFFICER) v. - .]—The Food Controller requisitioned certain cattle feeding stuffs under Defence of the Realm Regulations, but whether under reg. 2 B. or reg. 2 F. was doubtful. By reg. 2 B. the price to be paid for goods taken thereunder was to be determined by the tribunal by which claims for compensation under Defence of the Realm Regulations were determined, but was not to exceed a certain maximum price fixed by an Ord. in Council. By reg. 2 F. compensation for goods taken thereunder was to be paid as determined by an arbitrator, taking into account the cost of production of the goods & a reasonable profit. The maximum price fixed by the Ord. in Council has been paid. The Defence of the Realm Losses Commission having refused to entertain a claim for compensation, the owners of the goods presented a petition of right, claiming that the Food Controller had acted under reg. 2 F., & that they were entitled to compensation fixed by arbn. thereunder. At the trial the judge held that the Controller had acted under reg. 2 B., & dismissed the petition. On July 22, 1920, suppliants gave notice of appeal. On Aug. 16, 1920, Indemnity Act, 1920 (c. 48), was passed:—Held: (1) the appeal was not a "proceeding instituted" within sect. 1 of the Act; (2) those words do not include a final judgment given before the passing of the Act, & therefore the appeal well lay.—ROBINSON (J.) & Co. v. PART I. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 5.

aa. Action—Claim for damages & injunction—Transfer of Land Act, 1893 (No. 14), s. 117.—The term "action at law" in the above sect. embraces an action of the nature of a suit in equity, e.g. a claim for an injunction & damages in respect of trespass & interference with a right of way.—STRELTZ BROTHERS v. BRITNALL (1912), 15 W. A. L. R. 12.—AUS.

sb. — Divorce petition—Insolvency Act, 1915 (No. 2671), s. 174.—The word "action" in the above sect. does not include a proceeding by petition in divorce.—Re HARVEY, [1920] V. L. R. 142.—AUS.

sc. — Petition of right.—A petition of right is not an "action." The definitions of "actions" in Judicial Act & rules are merely a conventional method of interpreting the statute & rules, adopted for the sake of brevity & simplicity, & not for the purpose of changing the true nature of things.—MILLAR v. R., [1921] 49 O. L. R. 93; 19 O. W. N. 458; 58 D. L. R. 585.—CAN.

sp. — In insurance policy—Suit in India.—The word "action" contained in a policy of insurance issued by an English co. corresponds in meaning to the word "suit" in India.—MAYA DAS BHAGAT v. COMMERCIAL UNION ASSURANCE CO., LTD., 1 L. R., [1937] 1 Cal. 541.—IND.

sd. Proceeding in action—Application for relief against distraint—War Relief Act.—The above Act empowers a judge of the Supreme Ct. to dispense with the restrictions therein contained. Applt. distrainted against resp. under a mtge. notwithstanding that resp. was within the protection of the Act.

Resp. applied to a county ct. judge as "local judge" of the Supreme Ct. for relief, who made an order against resp. dispensing with the restrictions of the Act:—Held: the local judge had no jurisdiction, as the proceeding was not a proceeding in an "action," as required under the wording of the Ord. in Council, June 16, 1906. Resp.'s proper remedy against applt. was by injunction to restrain applt. from invading his rights under the Act.—HANNA v. COSTERTON, [1919] 1 W.W.L.R. 930; 44 D. L. R. 478.—CAN.

se. Proceeding—Canadian National Railways Act, s. 15.—A writ of garnishment attaching moneys owed by the Canadian National Railway Corpn. to a judgment debtor in its employment is a "proceeding" within Canadian National Railways Act, s. 15, & may therefore issue "without a fiat" from the Crown.—CANADIAN NATIONAL RY. CO. v. CROTEAU & CLICHEE, [1925] S. C. R. 384.—CAN.

sl. Suit or proceeding—Meaning dependent on context of statute.—The words "suits" & "proceedings" have different meanings in different statutes, & it is not possible to lay down a general rule which would be applicable to all cases. In each particular case the question has to be examined in reference to the context, & that meaning is to be preferred which will best fit in with it.—KIRPA SINGH v. AJAIPAL SINGH (1928), 1 L. R. 10 Lah. 165.—IND.

sg. Suit or action—Application by curator bonis.—An application by the curator bonis of a person who has been declared incapable of managing his affairs for the appointment of a curator ad item & for leave to institute proceedings to set aside the marriage of such a person is a civil suit or action within South Africa Act, s. 103.—MITCHELL v. MITCHELL, [1930] App. D. 217.—S. AF.

sh. —.]—The essential feature of a "suit or action" under sect. 50 of the Charter of Justice or under sect. 39 of Transvaal Proclamation 14 of 1902, or of a "suit" under sect. 24 of Cape Act 35 of 1896, is that it is a proceeding in which one party sues for or claims something from another, & no proceeding which lacks this feature, such as requisition proceedings or an application for the winding up of a co., can be properly described as a "suit or action" or as a "suit" under any of these sects.—COLLETT v. PRIEST, [1931] A. D. 290.—S. AF.

sk. Case.—The word "case" in Civil Procedure Code, s. 115, does not necessarily mean a suit, but can mean a proceeding.—BHOLA NATH v. RAGHUNATH DAS MITHAN LAL (1929), 1 L. R. 51 All. 1010.—IND.

a district ct. action did not arise in one judicial district the action should be brought in that district where deft. or one of several defts. resides or carries on business. Notwithstanding sect. 2, sub-sect. 2 (2), of the Act providing that in the Act unless there is something in the subject or context repugnant thereto the expressions “cause” & “action” shall respectively have the same meaning as the same expressions have in King’s Bench Act, the words “the cause of action” in sect. 29 should not be construed in the same way as in King’s Bench Act, s. 35, because in sect. 29 “there is something in the subject or context repugnant thereto,” namely, the fact that sect. 29 confers jurisdiction on an inferior ct. & therefore must be strictly construed, jurisdiction not being assumed beyond what is clearly conferred, whereas a different principle applies in sect. 35 which does not affect to deal with jurisdiction but simply deals with practice & procedure in a superior ct.—HOWELL v. WARNER, [1921] 3 W. W. R. 587.—CAN.

106v. —.—The meaning of the phrase “cause of action” as defined in the English etc. & accepted in India, is that it comprises every fact which it would be necessary for plff. to prove, if traversed, in order to support his right to the judgment of the ct.; everything which, if not proved, renders plff. unable to sustain his action must be part of the cause of action.—*GUARDIAN ASSURANCE Co. v. aj. Sale of goods—To be delivered at place named—Payment to be made elsewhere.—Deft. in Perth gave to B., who was agent for plff., a written order for certain goods at a price. This order B. transmitted to his principal in Melbourne, who declined it, but authorised B. to inform deft. that plff. would accept the order at increased prices, added in ink on the original order. These new prices were subsequently submitted by B. to deft., who agreed to take certain of the goods at the increased prices. By the contract the goods were to be delivered f.o.b. Melbourne, payment to be by draft payable at Perth, cost of exchange to be added. Plff. shipped the goods to deft. in Perth, who refused to accept the draft, alleging inferiority of the goods.—Held: the contract was made in Perth; & the only breach of the contract took place in Perth; & although delivery had to be made f.o.b. Melbourne, there was not a cause of action arising within Victoria.—CHIDZEY v. BRECKLER, [1920] V. L. R. 558.—AUS.

ak. —.——A “cause of action” on a breach of contract includes the contract & its breach. If a purchaser of machinery promises to pay the purchase price to the vendor at M., but signs the agreement & receives the machinery at N., the vendor’s cause of action for the purchaser’s failure to pay cannot be said to arise at M.—WESTERN CANADA AUTO TRACTOR Co., LTD. v. BJARNASON, [1920] 1 W. W. R. 621.—CAN.

al. —.——Plff. sold & delivered a motor car to deft. at Prince Albert, & deft. gave him notes therefor signed at Prince Albert but payable at Saskatoon.—Held: the suit for balance due thereon was properly entered in the Saskatoon judicial district as the “cause of action” arose there.—*OLMSTEAD v. Breach of trust—Failure to account.—The wrong of a sale of land in breach of trust & the wrong of a failure to account are entirely different things; & in this case there was a joinder of different causes of action, in which the different defts. were not all interested. An order was made requiring plff. to elect upon which cause of action he would proceed.—THOMAS v. DAY (Alta.) (1912), 21 W. L. R. 244; 2 W. W. R. 133; 4 D. L. R. 238.—CAN.

wi. —.— Account by agent.—In a suit based upon an alleged agency, responsible for accounts & refund, it is the general agency with liability to account & refund the balance which is the cause of action, & not each separate act of payment or collection. Any individual act of collection cannot therefore be said to be a part of the cause of action so as to confer jurisdiction on the ct.—SHAH SANKALCHAND v. AMBALAL NAGINDAS (1929), 1 L. R. Where the sole exor. under a will never made any claim against the beneficiaries for repayment of certain costs which he had been ordered to pay to them, all he did having been to reserve his right to claim such repayment under a deed of indemnity that the beneficiaries had executed in his favour:—Held: the ct. had no jurisdiction to make a declaratory judgment under R. house. As pursuer refused to answer any question regarding the inspector, defender directed a watch for the inspector to be kept on pursuer's house. This watch was maintained day & night for five days by police constables stationed in private property & in a lane adjacent to pursuer's house & grounds. Pursuer's property was not entered, & the movements of pursuer & callers at her house were not, except on rare occasions, interfered with.—Held : the protection given by law to police & other public officials while acting in the exercise of their duty extended to cases where, as here, a chief constable was acting under powers vested in him for the maintenance of discipline within his police force; & accordingly, as defender's actions here were privileged, pursuer was bound, but had failed, to prove that defender had acted maliciously & without probable cause.—ROBERTSON v. 249a. — Unlawful means used.]—A single person or a body of persons commits an actionable wrong if he or they inflict actual pecuniary damage upon another by the intentional employment of unlawful means, such as threats of coercive action, to injure that person's business, even though the unlawful means may not comprise any specific act which is per se actionable & actual malice is not proved. The element of conspiracy in a case of this kind is of importance only in considering the weight of the acts alleged & the extent of the damage resulting therefrom.

Defts., the British Medical Association, a body incorporated for the purpose of maintaining "the honour & interests of the medical profession," & other defts., who were members of the Association, instituted & pursued a system of professional & social ostracism or boycott against pltf's., who were medical men, by means of threats & widely extended coercive action. Defts. sought to justify the boycott on the ground that the conduct of pltf's. in acting as the medical officers of a certain medical dispensary was detrimental to the honour & interests of the profession. As a result of the boycott pltf's. suffered pecuniary loss in the exercise of their profession:—Held: pltf's. had a good cause of action against all defts. for damages.—PRATT v. 257a. —.]—A number of discharged sailors entered into a partnership according to the terms of which the sailors were to perform together at certain music halls & were not to appear during the terms of the partnership in any other theatre or music hall. Pltf's., who were members of the co., complained that the deft. had induced certain of the sailors to break the contract by promising to get them employment & by obtaining other engagements for them. By amendment it was further alleged that deft. had wrongfully continued persons in her employment with the knowledge that by being in her employment those persons were breaking a contract with pltf's.:—Held: assuming an action lies to recover damages on the latter ground, the foundation of this action is that there shall be notice to deft. of a subsisting contract which one party, at all events, is still willing & able to perform; & there being sufficient evidence before the county ct. judge that the partnership had for all practical purposes come to an end, no action lay.—LONG v. 256 II. —.]—Pltf. co., a manufacturer of newspaper, brought this action against other manufacturers of the same articles for a declaration that such of defts. as supplied less than their proper share of newspaper to Canadian publishers during the years 1918 & 1919, were liable to pay to pltf. co. the loss suffered by it in supplying more than its proper share during the two years & asked for an account & payment. The claim was based upon an alleged agreement between the parties & also upon orders alleged to have been made by the Paper Comptroller appointed by the Canadian Government in Nov. 1917:—Held: although pltf. co. sustained a substantial loss of profit by reason of its having been compelled by the Government to supply the Western Canadian publishers with newspaper at prices fixed by the Comptroller when it could have been sold to limited states customers at higher prices, & was thus compelled to bear the burden, which should have been shared, by some of defts. the ct. had no jurisdiction to compel an adjustment of pltf. co.'s claim by those defts. who shirked their fair share of the burden.—FORT FRANCES PULP CO. v. 259a. — Damage by rats.—A firm of artificial manure manufacturers had on their premises, for the purposes of their business, a heap of bones which attracted rats. The occupier of adjoining premises was a farmer. The rats made runs between the factory & the fields & entered the farmer's land, & damaged his crops. The business had been carried on for at least thirty years, & there was no evidence to show that the bone heap had been increased beyond what it had been in past years, or anything to show that an increase which had actually taken place in the numbers of the rats was due to anything done by the manufacturers. In an action by the farmer against the manufacturers:—Held: in the absence of evidence showing that there had been an unusual & excessive collection of bones on the factory premises, or of anything unusual or excessive done by defts., or of any duty neglected by defts., pltf. could not maintain an action for damages.—*STEARN v. 274a. Procuring judgment for debt already paid—No malice.—Pltf., a chemist, owed defts. a debt of £3 11s. 4d., & paid it. Defts. overlooked the fact of this payment & issued civil process against pltf. who, when served, pointed out to defts. their mistake. Defts. apologised & wrote: "We are immediately communicating with our agency." On the day of trial defts., the then pltf.s, appeared by a solr. & obtained judgment for £3 11s. 4d. Pltf., the then deft., did not attend or appear. The fact of the judgment was published in a county newspaper. About eight months later the judgment, at the instance of the present pltf. was set aside. Pltf. brought an action claiming (inter alia) damages in tort against defts. for procuring this judgment. Pltf. in his evidence stated that his profits during the year following the judgment were diminished by £95, & during the next year by £105. He attributed this falling off to the judgment & its publication:—Held: the cause of action in tort, if any, was the malicious issue of civil process against pltf. There was no evidence of malice, & the supposed damages were irrecoverable.—CORRETT v. BURGE, WARREN & RIDLEY, LTD. (1932), 48 T. L. R. 626.

A statement false in fact, & detrimental to pltf.'s business though not defamatory, will therefore not support such an action if it was made in the belief, even a careless belief, that it was true, & without any indirect motive of hostility to pltf.—*BALDEN v. 258 II. — Heightened fence.—Applt. & resp. owned & resided upon adjoining properties. In 1925 resp. erected an 8 ft. iron fence or hoarding on the boundary between the properties. In 1929 resp. raised the fence to a height of 18 ft. in order to shield his lavatory from the view of an attic window which applt. had erected. On the day the work of heightening was started applt. notified resp. that, as the fence could not be erected without a trespass being committed, he would sue for damages if the work were proceeded with. A few days later applt. obtained an interdict restraining resp. from trespassing on his land. Applt. then instituted the present action, claiming damages on the ground that resp. had maliciously by himself, his servants and/or workmen trespassed upon the land for the purpose of erecting a hoarding on the boundary. It was proved that on one occasion a piece of timber fell upon applt.'s land & was immediately removed by the workmen:—Held: (1) although the heightening of the fence depreciated the value of applt.'s property, applt. could not recover damages, even if the work had been done maliciously; (2) as resp. had not trespassed under a claim of right & had not insolently or defiantly insisted upon going on applt.'s land, applt. was not entitled to succeed.—*VANSTON v. Committee, of which deft. was a member, was set up in London by the Imperial Russian Govt. & continued by its successor, the Russian Provisional Govt., & the committee, which incurred large financial obligations, had possession of certain documents, which related to those obligations & were the property of those Govts. The committee ceased to operate in 1918, & the documents were handed over to a board of trustees appointed by the Chargé d'Affaires of the Russian Provincial Govt., & deft. became president of the board. The documents had become the property of plffs., the present Russian Govt., whose sovereignty had been recognised by the British Govt., but they were still in the possession of deft. Certain actions were pending against deft. as a member of the Russian Govt. Committee with regard to the transactions to which the documents related. Plffs. claimed the delivery up of the documents, & deft. contended that he was entitled to a lien on the documents until he had received an indemnity in respect of the other actions, & he set up the contention by way of defence & counterclaim:—Held: although where a sovereign state was a pltf. a counterclaim could be maintained against it, yet the counterclaim must be in respect of matters immediately connected with the claim, & as the indemnity sought by deft. was not in respect of any liability incurred by him in & about the custody of the documents, & was not in respect of matters immediately connected with the claim, the action succeeded & the counterclaim failed.—*SOVIET REPUBLICS UNION v. - 387a. — Notwithstanding restrictions on exercise of sovereign rights.—(1) It is the settled practice of the ct. to take judicial notice of the status of any foreign Govt., & for that purpose, in any case of uncertainty, to seek information from a Secretary of State; & the information so received is conclusive.

(2) A Govt. recognised as sovereign by His Majesty's Govt. is not the less exempt from the jurisdiction of our cts. because it has agreed to restrictions on the exercise of its sovereign rights.

By a deed dated in July, 1912, the Govt. of Kelantan granted to applt. co. certain mining & other rights to be exercised in that State, & the deed contained an arbn. clause, which incorporated Arbn. Act, 1889 (c. 49), so far as applicable. Disputes having arisen as to the effect of the deed, they were referred to an arbitrator, who made an award in favour of the co. & directed the Govt. to pay the costs of the arbn. In Dec. 1921, the Govt. applied to the Ch. Div., under Arbn. Act, 1889, s. 11, to set aside the award, but the application was refused. In June, 1922, the co. obtained from the K. B. Div., under sect. 12 of the Act, an order giving leave to enforce the award, but the order was set aside, on the application of the Govt., on the ground that Kelantan was a sovereign independent State. Before setting aside the order the master asked the Secretary of State for the Colonies for information as to the status of Kelantan, & received in reply an official letter stating that Kelantan was an independent State & its Sultan the sovereign ruler thereof, & that the King did not exercise or claim any rights of sovereignty over Kelantan, & enclosing an agreement regulating the relations between the Sultan & the King. By this agreement the Sultan agreed to have no political relations with any foreign power except through the medium of the King, & in all matters of administration, other than those touching the Mohammedan religion & Malay custom, to follow the advice of an adviser appointed by the King:—Held: (1) the statement in the letter as to the sovereignty of Kelantan & its rulers was not intended to be qualified by the terms of the agreement, & the letter was conclusive; (3) the Govt. of Kelantan had not submitted to the jurisdiction of the ct. for the purpose of the proceedings to enforce the award, either by assenting to the arbn. clause or by applying to the ct. to set aside the award.—*DUFF DEVELOPMENT CO. v. - 392a. — — — — — (1) In proceedings in the cts. of this country by or against the ruler of a colonial State whose status is disputed a written statement by the Secretary of State for the Colonies that the ruler is an independent foreign sovereign is equivalent to a communication from the Crown & therefore, conclusive, & the ct. will accept it without considering whether it is borne out by documents which are appended to it.

In an arbn. in this country between pltf. co. & the Govt. of Kelantan an award was made in favour of the co. with costs. The Govt. of Kelantan then moved to set aside the award & this motion was dismissed with costs. An appeal from this decision was also dismissed with costs. No portion of these costs had been paid. The co. obtained a garnishee order nisi to attach money in the hands of the Crown agents of the Colonies on behalf of the Govt. of Kelantan. Upon an application by the co. for payment by the garnishees the Govt. of Kelantan & the Crown agents appeared together & contended that Kelantan was an independent sovereign State & the ct. had no jurisdiction to execute the orders for costs by a levy on the property of that State:—Held: (2) although the Govt. of Kelantan had, by initiating proceedings to set aside the award of the arbitrator, submitted to the jurisdiction of the ct., (3) that submission had not the effect of rendering liable to execution any property belonging to the Govt. within the jurisdiction.—*DUFF DEVELOPMENT CO. v. PART V. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 1.

498 II. ———— Claim under Criminal Injuries Code of Ireland.]—The rule or doctrine that no civil remedy will lie against the perpetrators of a felonious act until they have been prosecuted to conviction is not applicable to a claim for compensation under Criminal Injuries Code of Ireland for goods stolen in the course of rioting.—TYLER v. CORK COUNTY COUNCIL, [1921] 2 I. R. 8.—IR.

499 I. ————]—A criminal charge was laid by pltf. bank against def. in respect of $1,800 which the bank alleged it had overpaid def. Before decision in the criminal trial had been given, pltf. instituted an action to recover the money. It was contended on behalf of def. that immediately the evidence disclosed a criminal offence on the part of def., which had not been prosecuted to conviction or acquittal, pltf. should not have been allowed to proceed with the action, but should have been non-suited:—Held: as a criminal prosecution had actually been carried through, even though the decision was under advisement, the action could be maintained.—STANDARD BANK OF CANADA v. SHUEN WAH, [1919] 1 W. W. R. 586; 26 B. C. R. 441.—CAN.

499 II. ————]—Where, in an action for assault & battery, pltf. proves that the injury caused grievous bodily harm, pltf. will be nonsuited unless it appears that proceedings have been taken against def. for the criminal offence.—SCHOHL v. KAY (1862), 10 N. B. R. (5 All.) 244.—CAN.

504 III. ————]—No hard & fast rule can be laid down to indicate the considerations by which a ct. ought to be guided in considering the question of the stay of a criminal proceeding, pending the disposal of a civil suit, & each case must be determined upon its own facts. Even if some or all the matters materially in issue are the same, that in itself cannot be a reason for staying the criminal proceedings. One test is whether the prosecution is public or private. Where it is public the ct. as a rule would not stay criminal proceedings.—GOPAL CHANDRA CHARRAVARTI v. KING EMPEROR (1929), 1 L. R. 57; Calc. 558.—IND.

504 IV. ————]—The rule that where pltf. sues in respect of a wrong which is a tort & also a felony, def. should be prosecuted in respect of the felony before the civil action is heard, does not make such criminal prosecution an indispensable condition precedent to the right to maintain the civil action. In its modern application the rule is merely suspensory of the civil rights, & is subject to the exercise of judicial discretion. In exercising such discretion the ct. may consider circumstances, such as the infancy, ignorance, or poverty of pltf., which may afford excuse for the failure to prosecute in respect of the felony. Where pltf. has obtained a verdict in the civil action, the ct., on motion for a new trial or for judgment, may consider the circumstance that between verdict & motion def. has been prosecuted in respect of the felony.—CARLISLE v. ORR (No. 2), [1918] 2 I. R. 442.—IR.

504 v. ————]—On Aug. 12, 1920, an information for theft was laid by def. against pltf. On Aug. 23, 1920, pltf. began an action in a division ct. against def. to recover $99 for wages; on Aug. 30, def. counter-claimed in the division ct. action for money & tickets amounting to $202.74, "fraudulently & without colour of right" converted by pltf. to his own use, the subject of conversion being the same as that in respect of which the criminal charge was made: on Sept. 22 pltf. was committed for trial on the criminal charge, & on Sept. 30, a true bill was found against him in the sessions. On a subsequent day the judge of the division ct. heard argument as to whether the action should be proceeded with before the criminal charge was taken up; he decided that it should, & fixed a day for trial, but on Dec. 10, 1920, neither the action nor the criminal proceeding having been tried, an order was made by a judge of the Supreme Ct. of Ontario, upon the application of def., prohibiting the judge of the division court from proceeding in the action until after the final disposition of the criminal prosecution. Pltf. appealed from this order, & before the completion of the argument of the appeal pltf. was tried upon the criminal charge & acquitted.—Held: the division of judge had the right, the claim & counterclaim being within the jurisdiction of the ct., to stay proceedings or otherwise deal with the case; & prohibition did not lie, even if the judge erred in the conclusion to which he came.—Re BRYANT v. sm. Injury incidental to felony.—Held: the rule, that civil proceedings based upon felonious acts of deft. should be stayed until deft. had been prosecuted, did not apply where injury resulted to a person only incidentally to the felony, & in any event, the rule did not apply to actions based upon sect. 3 of Compensation to Relatives Act, 1897.—CARR v. BAKER (1936), 36 S. R. N. S. W. 301; 53 N. S. W. W. N. 110.—AUS.

No criminal charges had been laid or threatened, or were probable. On a motion for an order staying proceedings until the alleged crimes had been prosecuted & disposed of in the criminal cts. —Held: after referring to sect. 13 of the Criminal Code, R.S.C. 1927, the motion should be refused.—CZERNEWICZ v. PART V. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

ss. Abolition of distinction between felonies & misdemeanors—Action against company—Prosecution of directors.—Even if the rule, that where an injury constitutes both a civil wrong & a felony the civil remedy is suspended or may be stayed until the person who committed the injury has been prosecuted, is in force in Alberta, it is inapplicable where the civil action is against an incorporated company & a stay thereof is asked for on the ground that criminal proceedings are pending against directors of the co. on charges identical with those which might be based on the facts which may be disclosed in the civil action, but there is nothing alleged in the latter action to show that said directors are individually connected with or have a knowledge of the facts alleged in that action. Since said rule under the law of England was applicable where the prosecution was for a felony but not where it was for a misdemeanor, & the distinction between felonies & misdemeanors has been abolished with respect to offences against the Criminal Code, the rule does not apply where the offences disclosed by the civil action are offences under the Code or, if only common-law offences, are offences which could not at any time have been classified as felonies.—PORTER v. SOLLWAY MILLS & CO., LTD., [1930] 1 W. W. R. 680; 3 D. L. R. 758; 26 Alta. L. R. 150; 54 Can. C. C. 181.—CAN.

561b. ———.]—Pltf., a member of deft. assocn., brought an action against O., the secretary, & W., the president, of the assocn., for libel in the conduct of the business of the assocn., & in the same action C. counter-claimed against pltf. for damages for libel in respect of the same business. The action resulted in judgment for defts. on the claim, with damages for £75 for O. on the counter-claim. The assocn. before the hearing of the action had passed resolutions to indemnify O. & W. against any liability or costs arising from the action against them, & that the indemnity should extend to the costs of any counterclaim that counsel might advise should be made, provided that any costs of the action for which the assocn. would be liable should be paid pro tanto out of any moneys recovered in the action. Pltf. then brought an action against the assocn. for maintenance & champerty, & other relief:—Held: (1) champerty being a form of maintenance, a decision which applies to the genus must also apply to the species; (2) pltf. had not proved any special damage, & his claim in champerty failed equally with his claim in maintenance.—HICKMAN v. 598a. ——— Percentage.—Pltf. was retained by deft. to act as his solr. in an action brought against him. Deft. had a counterclaim, & while the action was proceeding, an agreement was made that in the event of deft.'s recovering more than sufficient to pay his creditors in full & all legal expenses he would pay his solr. a percentage on the amount, the solr. agreeing to conduct the counterclaim on the above terms, & not to look to deft. for any costs of the counterclaim except out-of-pocket expenses in the event of the success of pltf. in that action. Deft. lost the action, & his solr. sued him for the costs:—Held: pltf. could not recover as (1) (BANKES, L.J.) the agreement was champertous, & its effect was to make it an essential part of pltf.'s cause of action on his original retainer that he should negative the event in which he was to get no costs, namely, the event of the success of pltf. in the previous action; (2) (ATKIN, L.J.) the champertous nature of the agreement prevented pltf. from completing his services lawfully, & consequently he could not recover on a quantum meruit.—WILD v. SIMPSON, [1919] 2 K. B. 544; 88 L. J. K. B. 1085; 121 L. T. 326; 35 T. L. R. 576; 63 Sol. Jo. 625, C. A.

599a. ———.]—Pltf. carried on business as the "Turf Register," which in a prospectus issued by him was called a "society"; but he was the sole proprietor of the business, though he described himself in the prospectus as secretary. In consideration of a subscription, & of a commission on the amount recovered, he undertook to collect for the subscribers betting debts which, under the provisions of Gaming Acts, were not recoverable. It was agreed between him & deft. in the terms of the prospectus, that in consideration of pltf. "putting up all the necessary disbursements for the institution & conduct of legal or other proceedings, the net profits accruing directly or indirectly is to be equally divided between claimant & the society." Pltf. brought an action to recover the amounts of debts alleged to have been wrongfully collected by deft. in breach of the agreement:—Held: the agreement was illegal & void, being contrary to public policy, & champertous, as there was no community of interest between the parties, except such as was created by the agreement itself, & pltf. could not recover.—FORD v. RADFORD (1920), 36 T. L. R. 658; 64 Sol. Jo. 571.

581 ix. ———.]—One, D., died sonless in 1843, leaving him surviving three widows, the last of whom died in 1894. The widows had from time to time made numerous alienations of portions of their husband's estate to defts., most of the transactions being evidenced by registered deeds. In 1906, the present suit for possession was brought by A., a collateral of D. & certain assignees from A., to whom he, after the death of the last surviving widow, had transferred a share in the property in consideration of their agreeing to supply funds for the litigation to recover back the land from the alienees.—Held: the English rules against champerty & maintenance are not in force in India, & agreements to finance litigation on condition of a promise to share in its fruits are not against public policy or void & can be enforced, unless they are extortionate or otherwise inequitable.—THAKAR SINGH v. UTTAM KAU (1929), 1 L. L. R. 10 Lah. 613.—IND.

- 604a. — Assignment of option to take lease.—In 1853 the L. & C. Ry. Co., the predecessors of deft. co., leased land adjacent to the station at Carlisle to H. for 999 years, for the purpose of erecting an hotel thereon. The lease contained a covenant by the co. with H., his exors., administrators & limited assigns that "the co. & their successors & assigns shall permit the tenant or occupier of the hotel for the time being & his servants to have access to the platforms of the station & that the tenant or occupier of the hotel shall have the option of renting the refreshment rooms" at a rent to be fixed as there mentioned, "in preference to any other party." In 1860 H. granted a sub-lease of the hotel premises to B. for 21 years, & the co. also granted to B. a lease of the refreshment rooms for 21 years. In 1866 pltf. co. obtained an assignment from B. of his interest under these two documents, & an assignment from H. of the land comprised in the lease of 1853 & "All & singular other premises comprised in & demised by the said recited indenture of lease of Aug. 1, 1853." From 1866 onwards pltf. managed & conducted both hotel & refreshment rooms, & after the expiration of the 21 years' term granted by the sub-lease of 1860 to B., they continued in occupation of the rooms upon such terms of that sub-lease as were applicable. In 1879 defts. succeeded by statute to the contracts of the L. & C. Ry. Co. On April 2, 1891, defts. & the Caledonian Ry. Co. demised to pltf. a plot of land adjacent to the hotel for 992 years. The deed recited the lease of 1853, & referred to it as the "principal indenture"; & it also provided that "these presents are without prejudice to any of the covenants conditions & agreements contained in the principal indenture," which were to remain & be in full force. On Mar. 24, 1916, defts. gave six months' notice to pltf. to determine their occupation of the refreshment rooms. Pltf. gave up possession, & then served a written notice on defts. stating their desire to exercise the option contained in the lease of 1853, & requesting to be informed as to terms. Defts. having ignored the notice, pltf., on Oct. 16, 1916, obtained an express assignment from the personal representatives of H., who had died in 1876, of "all that the benefit right title & interest, if any, now remaining outstanding of or otherwise vested in them or any or either of them of & in the railway obligations." Pltf. claimed (a) a declaration that defts. by the lease of 1853 were under an obligation to put & keep the occupier of pltf.' hotel in occupation of the refreshment rooms, upon the terms of paying therefor a fixed market rent; (b) to have such rent fixed under the direction of the ct.; (c) damages for the breach of such obligation by defts. —Held: (1) the option clause did not run with the land, & pass ipso facto by the assignment of the lease of 1853, as it did not touch or concern the thing demised; (2) the option clause was assignable, & was not a covenant merely personal to the covenantor; (3) the benefit of this clause was not assigned by the deed of 1866, inasmuch as the word "premises" therein referred to the land & buildings demised, & not to the option clause; (4) the deed of 1891 was not a fresh grant of the option rights to pltf., & did not constitute a binding recognition of pltf. as the assignees of the option clause; (5) the assignment of Oct. 16, 1916, by the personal representatives of H., of the option clause in the lease of 1853, being an assignment of a right of property, was not invalid for champerty; (6) the option clause was void for uncertainty; (7) the option clause was ultra vires of the railway co., as it fettered injuriously & gravely their obligations of performing efficiently their public duties. — *COUNTY HOTEL & WINE CO. v. Lease of tithes—With covenant to take legal proceedings for recovery of tithes.—Agreement to lease the rectorial tithes of a parish, including the tithes of ninety acres supposed to be within the parish, but which had not paid tithes to the lessor during his incumbency with a stipulation that the intended lessee would, within a given time, take such legal proceedings for the recovery of the tithes of the ninety acres as his counsel should advise:—Held: not to be within Statute of Maintenance, 1540 (c. 9). — *WHITE v. deposit the money required for the security for costs which pltf. had been ordered to give in said suit & pay all costs incurred or to be incurred therein, or in any other suit brought or defended by them respecting said mine, & pay all moneys due for the purchase thereof, & allot to each of pltf. a twentieth share therein, if they should succeed

621a. ——— Diliapidations.]—A freehold messuage & tenement were the subject of the following leases: (a) a head lease which expired on Dec. 25, 1917; (b) an underlease which expired on Dec. 18, 1917; (c) a sub-underlease which expired on Dec. 15, 1917. All three leases contained onerous covenants to repair the premises & to keep them & yield them up in good repair. The sub-underlease became vested by assignment in deft. On Dec. 18, 1917, pltf. who had been a tenant to deft. of the same premises, & was liable to him under a covenant to repair less onerous than those in the three leases above mentioned, agreed to purchase, & on May 1, 1918, took a conveyance of the fee simple of the premises together with the benefit of the covenants in the head lease. At the expiration of all the leases the premises were out of repair & deft. was threatening pltf. with an action on his covenant. Thereupon pltf. obtained an assignment of the full benefit of the lessee's covenants to repair contained in the sub-underlease, & commenced an action against deft. as assignee of the sub-underlease for breaches of the lessee's covenants therein:—Held: the assignment was free from objection on the ground of maintenance or champerty, the right of action on the covenants being so connected with the enjoyment of property as to be more than a bare right to litigate.—*ELLIS v. 637a. ——— Actions for infringement of copyright.—Society for protection of copyright interests of members.]—Pltf. society was formed as a limited co. to protect the copyright interests of members, who assigned their copyrights to the society. By the rules of the society fees & damages recovered were pooled, & the fund so formed was divided among the members after the deduction of expenses. The assignments were real & substantial transactions, & the provision as to the division of the damages was only subsidiary. Subsequently V. sold the property to H. together with V.'s right to recover the compensation from the Crown for all damages caused him by the flooding & expropriation. The arbn. was held by virtue of a clause in a charterparty relating, not to the Beldis, but to the S.S. Belfri, another ship belonging to defts. Defts. failed to appear & judgment was entered against them by default. Thereupon the present appls., who held a mtge. on the Beldis, intervened, & by agreement an issue was submitted to the county ct. judge as to "whether plffs.' action in rem against the S.S. Beldis is maintainable in view of the fact that plffs.' claim in this action arose out of a charterparty of the

The vessel was duly seized, sold at auction by the sheriff, & purchased by D. & Co., who made the necessary deposit. Money had been wired by ap. to discharge plff.'s claim, but arrived too late to stop the sale. D. & Co. afterwards tendered the balance of the price, which was refused on account of an application to set aside the sale, & to redeem the vessel. D. & Co., on purchasing the vessel, made arrangements for repairs thereto, & at the time the application was originally made, they were negotiating for the sale thereof. The application was refused:—Held: while the Admirty. Ct. exercised an unquestionable equitable jurisdiction, inasmuch as applt. had failed to show a superior equity to those arising in favour of the purchasers, the order refusing the application should not be interfered with.—McBRIDE v. DARRELL (1920), 20 Exch. C. R. 274.—CAN.

sc. ————.]—If a tort is committed within the jurisdiction of the ct. by the master of a ship, being a peregrinus, against a member of his crew, also a peregrinus, the ct. has jurisdiction to arrest the tortfeasor or his goods, & to try an action based upon the tort; but the commission of such a tort is not a ground for attaching the ship to found jurisdiction unless the master has an interest in the ship.—NOLAN v. S.S. RUSSEL HAYERSIDE, [1921] C. P. D. 136.—S. AF.

sd. Master's claim for damages—Interest on wages in arrears—Whether enforceable by action in rem.]—A British ship was attached to satisfy various creditors in rem, including the master of the vessel. She was subsequently sold, any liens of the creditors being transferred to the proceeds. The master's claim included damages against the owners for wrongful dismissal calculated from a date subsequent to the sale:—Held: (1) the master was entitled to damages pari passu with his claim for wages, which he could enforce by an action in rem; (2) the master was not entitled to claim in rem for interest upon arrear wages.—Re GWYDYR CASTLE (1920), 41 N. S.S. Belfri belonging to the same owners." The county ct. judge decided in favour of plffs. upon a dictum of the Ct. of Appeal in regard to procedure in rem in The Henrich Björn, No. 65, that "the arrest need not be of the ship in question, but may be of any property of deft. within the realm." The interveners appealed. On appeal, the ct. raised the question whether, apart from the point for decision in the agreed issue, the issue itself was not based on a misconception, as it asserted that plffs.' action arose out of a charterparty, whereas it appeared to be based upon an award. By County Cts. Admty. Jurisdiction Amendment Act, 1869 (c. 51), s. 2 (1), any county ct. appointed to have Admty. jurisdiction "shall have jurisdiction . . . to try . . . any claim arising out of any agreement made in relation to the use or hire of any ship . . .":—Held: (1) the cause of action alleged was an ordinary common law claim for payment of money under an award & was not within the jurisdiction conferred by the Act of 1869; but (in case the ct.'s interpretation of the words "arising out of any agreement," etc., should be held by the House of Lords to be wrong); (2) the dictum in The Henrich Björn was obiter, was not therefore binding, and was erroneous; the procedure in rem either in the Admty. Ct. or in the county ct. does not permit the arrest of a ship or other property of a deft. unconnected with the cause of action; & on both grounds the appeal must be allowed.—THE BELDIS, [1936] P. 51; 106 L. - 102a. —.—]—On May 8, 1938, a collision between two rowing boats occurred on the River Thames, near Hammersmith. Pltf. was in a single sculling skiff, & as a result of the accident sustained personal injuries which he alleged had been caused by the negligent steering of an eight belonging to the Westminster Bank Rowing Club. He commenced an action in the K. B. Div., claiming damages against defts., who were officials of the club. After defts. had put in a defence & counterclaim, a summons was taken out to transfer the action to the Admiralty Div. This summons was dismissed by the master, but an appeal to the judge in chambers was allowed & the action ordered to be transferred subject to the consent of the President of the Admiralty Div. Pltf. appealed to the Ct. of Appeal:—Held: as no reason had been shown for interfering with the judge's discretion to make the order, the appeal should be dismissed.—*EDWARDS v. 141a. —.]—THE CRIMDON, No. 131a, ante.

141b. — Government not formally recognised.]—Ptfs., Estonian subjects, the owners of two sailing vessels, with the approval & support of the Estonian Govt., issued writs in rem claiming possession of the vessels, which had been requisitioned or sequestered by the Provisional Govt. of Northern Russia, & by them hired to a partnership assocn. for the purposes of trading, subject to the control of the director of naval transports. The Provisional Govt. entered appearances under protest, & motions were set down to set aside the writs & all subsequent proceedings on the grounds (inter alia) that the vessels were in the service of the Provisional Govt. & therefore immune from arrest; & that the dispute was between foreigners as to the possession of foreign ships, & therefore that, even if the ct. had jurisdiction, it should decline to exercise it. The judge invited the assistance of the Foreign Office as to the status of the Provisional Govt. of Northern Russia, & was informed by the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs that, while the Allied Powers were co-operating with the Provisional Govt. in the opposition which that Govt. was making to the forces of the Russian Soviet Govt., the Provisional Govt. had not been "formally recognised either by H.M. Govt. or by the Allied Powers as the Govt. of a sovereign independent State:—Held: (1) although under the control of an official of the Provisional Govt. the vessels were not in the possession or service of the Govt.; (2) even under the older decisions, the ct. in its discretion would entertain a possession suit between foreigners if the representative of the foreign State to which the vessel belonged requested the intervention of the ct.—THE ANNETTE, THE DORA, [1919] P. 105; 88 L. J. P. 107; 35 T. L. R. 288.

141c. — Trading.]—A vessel owned or requisitioned by a sovereign independent State & earning freight for the State, is not deprived of the privilege, decreed by international comity, of immunity from the process of arrest, by reason of the fact that she is being employed in ordinary trading voyages carrying cargoes for private individuals.—THE PORTO ALEXANDRE, [1920] P. 80; 89 L. J. P. 97; 122 L. T. 661; 36 T. L. R. 66; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 1, C. A.

141d. —.]—While under requisition by, & manned & operated by, the United States Govt., defts.' steamship was in collision with & did damage to ptfs.' steamship. After the vessel had been released from requisition ptfs. commenced an action in rem for their collision damage. In that action defts. pleaded (inter alia) that "at the time when the collision is alleged to have taken place the Sylvan Arrow was under requisition by & under the sole control & management of the Govt. of the United States & was being navigated by persons who were the servants of the Govt. & for whose negligence defts. were & are in no wise responsible. . . . Defts. say that the action is not maintainable in rem by reason of the facts set out" above. On the hearing of this question as a preliminary point of law:—Held: defts. had surrendered their vessel to the United States Govt. under compulsion; in no sense could it be said that the master & crew derived their authority from defts., & in the circumstances no maritime lien attached to the vessel by reason of the collision, & her owners were not, either through their vessel or otherwise, liable to ptfs.—THE SYLVAN ARROW, [1923] P. 220; 92 L. J. P. 119; 130 L. T. 157; 39 T. L. R. 655; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 244.

141e. —.]—A ship, called the C., belonging to applts., a Spanish co., & registered at the port of Bilbao, was lying in the port of Cardiff. Shortly before her arrival there, but after she had left Spain, a decree was made by the Spanish Govt. requisitioning all vessels registered at the port of Bilbao, & in view of this, & acting on the instructions of the Spanish Govt., the Spanish consul at Cardiff went on board the C., stated that she had been requisitioned, dismissed the master & put a new master in charge. Thereupon applts. issued a writ in rem claiming possession of the C. as their property. The Spanish Govt. entered a conditional appearance, & gave notice of motion for an order that the writ should be set aside inasmuch as it impleaded a foreign sovereign State:—Held: the cts. of this country will not allow the arrest of a ship, including a trading ship, which is in the possession of, & which has been requisitioned for public purposes by, a foreign sovereign State, inasmuch as to do so would be an infraction of the rule well established in international law that a sovereign State cannot, directly or indirectly, be impleaded without its consent, & therefore, that the writ & all subsequent proceedings must be set aside.—COMPANIA NAVIERA VASCONGADO v. CRISTINA S.S., [1938] A. C.
